ECO MAX

Eco-Max Printing & Fabric

Dye Sublimation is an extremely “green friendly” printing technology as compared with other tradition printing processes that require chemicals and acids. No toxins are used in the dye sub process.

Inks used in dye sublimation printing turn into a solid, permanent form. The heat transfer process, and the printed fabric is completely safe to touch and handle.

100% recycled fabric is also available in 150gsm. This fabric is made from a combination of post consumer recycled products thus protecting the environment and offering a green friendly garment.
